Raised Voices Words: Cynthia Cockburn

Music: Ros Brown Arr.: Morag Carmichael

I'm sit-ting in the White House when a thought oc-curs to me. It's Jul-ius Cae-sar comes to mind in fif-ty four B. C. 'cos I'm told that Rom-an John-ny made it big in his-to-ry. Well, hell you had an emp-ire but it's time to take a bow. You had your chance to rule the world: it's my turn now.

V. 4 Chorus

Well, hell you had an emp-ire but it's time to take a bow. You had your chance to rule the world it's my turn now.

Coda

You buy them off with dol-lars or you bomb them till they bleed.
